"Tom" Reed was asked the other day whether he had ever been invited to a dinner, as Speaker of the House of Representatives, without also being asked to speak. "Never," was his reply.

The storm center of Democratic politics has shifted from Washington and New York to Albany. Possibly it isn't going to be much of a storm, but if Mr. Cleveland and his Mugwump idolators are halfway smart they will take their mackintoshes and cork suits with them.

Inasmuch as they have had a big riot in the new Colorado gold fields, in which two men were killed and nearly a hundred wounded, the town of Dolores would seem to be fully entitled to a place on the map and to the attention of fortune seeking tourists. It looks as though there might be a fine business for a shooting gallery in that town.

New Mexico is entitled to statehood, and there is no good reason why it should not be admitted. The population is 175,000, while Montana, Idaho and Wyoming had respectively 39,000, 84,000 and 60,000 population at the time of their admission to the Union. The assessed valuation in the territory is $45,500,000. The people of New Mexico are intelligent and would make good citizens.

Some of the Kansas politicians who fear Mrs. Lease's strength in the Senatorial contest are trying to get rid of her by urging her to accept a place on the State Board of Charities. It is entirely improbable, however, that Mrs. Lease will consent to be treated as an object of charity of that sort. She is much more likely to take the ground that if she is fit to serve the state as a member of its Board of Charities, she is also fit to serve it in the Senate.

Senator Carlisle is too poor a man to go into the Cabinet. He prefers a place on the Supreme Bench, where the pay is the same, the honors equal and the expenses small.

The pay of a Cabinet officer, $8,000, pays about one-third the expenses of the incumbent. When Senator Lamar, who had just married a young wife, was appointed Secretary of the Interior by Mr. Cleveland, his bride spent a week house hunting, and finally found what seemed to be a suitable residence for a Cabinet officer. She drove to the Senate, of which Mr. Lamar was still a member, to tell her husband the news of her discovery. His first question was:

"What is the rent, dear?"

"Seventy-five hundred a year."

The Senator lapsed into deep thought and the young wife said, rather nervously:

"Do you think it extravagant?"

"It is not that," returned Lamar, slowly. "I was wondering what I should do with the other $500 of my salary."

A stranger can get dry on Market street last evening, jumped the track and went into George Deiner's saloon to get a drink of his ten-year-old, but George don't sell to minors, and the car, after considerable trouble, was put back on the track.

A PERILOUS VOYAGE.

A Maysville Man Battles the Ice King to Reach His Bride.

William F. Power will never forget his wedding-day.

While "Love laughs at locksmiths," it is recorded rarely that the little sylph overcomes the very elements themselves.

But such was the case yesterday.

Mr. Power, who died at Aberdeen at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the hour set for his marriage to Miss Eliza Marvin, one of the most lovable and accomplished young ladies of our neighboring village.

At 11 o'clock he bade adieu to his bachelor business partner, Collins Blatterman, and started for the home of his bride.

The movements of the ice navigation during the preceding hours had rendered navigation not only tedious but extremely perilous.

Enlisting the services of a couple of good skiffs and nerve crews, however, the voyage began, and its novelty was not long in attracting a large crowd on either bank of the river. It goes without saying that every one wished the young couple safe a safe if not a pleasant trip.

That it was indeed only one is evidenced by the fact that it was approaching the wedding hour when Mr. Power stepped off on the Ohio shore.

Thankful that it was no worse, he soon sought the presence of the wedding party, which had been anxiously awaiting the result of the contest with the ice King, in which Love was victorious.

Mr. Power is of the well-known firm of Blatterman & Power of this city, and his bride a daughter of Mrs. William Marvin.

THE LEDGER congratulates Mr. Power on the successful termination of his perilous voyage and trusts that he and his bride may find pleasant sailing on the matrimonial sea.

LEONARD DOYAL and Mrs. Mollie Cameron married at Carlisle yesterday.

THE estate of the late James J. Faran of Cincinnati will amount to about a quarter of a million.

HONKUP & STAGGE, dry goods, assigned at Cincinnati, with $12,000 assets and $15,000 liabilities.

MANY water pipes in residence in this city have burst during the past few days, doing light damage to carpets, &c.

DAINTY CANTRELL has moved his dentistry office into the room formerly occupied by Hensler & Trapp on Market street.

PETER G. STEVENSON, an old leather merchant of Cincinnati, is broke, with assets of $15,000 and debts of $20,000.

GEORGE E. WILLETT, Washington county's Representative in the Legislature, married Miss Jennie Winsott at Louisville.

THE Magistrates of Kenton county will be asked to give $1,000 additional salary to Judge Cleary, the Commonwealth's Attorney.

MAYOR BREWER of Newport upon retiring from office was presented with an elegant silver punch bowl and ladle with gold lining by the City Council.

THE stockholders of the Mason County Building and Saving Association are requested to call at the Bank of Maysville and receive their dividends.

THE Ensign Company is building a monster snow plow to be used in the East. It is to stand the combined strength of four locomotives pushing against a snow bank.

IT is announced that Secretary of State Foster will resign in February before leaving for Paris to act as agent for the United States in the Bering Sea arbitration.

In 1870 there were 175,428 Canadians in New England; in 1890 there were 380,167. Strange how they will come here to be ground down by plotters and plundered by Protected monopolists!

Isn't ours a dandy Legislature? Monday the rail-call showed just 19 members of the House present and 31 absent! And this is the sort of monkey-business that is costing the horrid-handed taxpayers of Kentucky $1,000 a day.

Don't do any personal "swearing off." Just sit down with yourself and manfully resolve that you will be a good citizen and that there has got to be a change. The dress parade reformer is the one who drops out of the ranks sooner than almost any other.

SAMUEL GOMPERS, President of the American Federation of Labor, wants the Pacific Mail steamers to employ American seamen. The Democratic policy is not only to have foreigners man American ships, but have American masts and American manufacturers carried in foreign ships.

The Ohio Legislature has convened. More than five hundred bills were pending when this body adjourned last spring, and will have to be disposed of at this session. These with the usual number of new ones that will be introduced, will keep this body of law-makers at the Capital until late in the spring.

The Tribune, Cincinnati's new morning daily, is before us, and makes a creditable appearance. Its editorial columns are unusual bright, while the news columns are filled with sound, sensible reading, being entirely devoid of sensational scandals and bawdy-house scenes. It can be read in every household with the satisfaction that it contains nothing of a nature to poison the mind of the youth.

Just think of such a calamity-howler and robber-tariff-demolisher as The Courier-Journal publishing an item like this: "There has been fewer failures in business throughout the United States during 1892 than ever before. This year there have been 10,344 crashes, with aggregate liabilities of $14,400,000, while last year there were 12,375 failures, with liabilities of $19,000,000. The average liabilities of the firms failing have been but $11,000, the lowest average since 1878." Why, it's almost enough to make one's blood run up stream.

AMONG HONEST MEN, AND STILL UNEASY CONCERNING THE SAFETY OF HIS WARDROBE.

A Philosophical Exposition of the Scenes at the Reform Club Dinner—Crisp's Exposition.

"It is not true that I left the banquet hall in a disgruntled condition and did not return, as has been published. I left my seat temporarily to look after my clothes in the cloakroom. That Speeler Crisp in the story of the steward who was generally circulated on Sunday that he left the Reform Club dinner on Saturday night to go to a hotel at not having been called upon to pay his bill, is not true. I had prepared and given to the Associated Press.

We accept the explanation and correction. And now the question naturally arises why at that particular time, when the feast of reason was at its height and the revelry was at its鼎盛, was Roswell Flower not at home? The reason is very simple—the two十二-dollar pieces in his waistcoat even Roswell Flower could not successfully defend—why at such a moment did he leave the Reform Club if he had better be looking after his clothes?

It does not appear that his speech was in his "clothes"; even if it was, the time past for his making call for, and he must have known that it was too no use for it that night. What was it that so suddenly inspired him with the thought that he had better be looking after his clothes? It was the sudden inspiration.

It may be that he sat down to listen to the eloquent speeches of the Reformers the conviction gradually grew upon him that he was the sort of specimen in which very few things were safe. Perhaps he recalled the wise words of Emerson: "Beware when the Alphyn lets loose a thought in the brain. All thoughts are at risk when once let loose."

Then all things are at risk when once let loose upon the planet. It is not impossible that the truth will break upon him suddenly as the coming of the flood and the great thoughts went bursting through the smoke like bursting bolts. The thinkers were all loose and everywhere was the risk of a greater than that of a sudden he plunged wildly toward the cloakroom to "look after his clothes."

And then there was nothing in the speeches if he accepted them as a sincere expression of the sentiments of the Reform Club, and the honest opinion of the speaker, that would satisfy him of any anxiety concerning his clothes. On the contrary they were perversely by a high moral tone, a strenuous assertion of the rightness of the cause, and of gushing goodness, that if taken at their face value would have passed anywhere as good for at least one entire suit of clothes as the purchase of even a hair's breadth. It would be interesting to know by what intellectual process Mr. Crisp reached the conclusion that the best thing he could do under all the circumstances was to look after his clothes.

Mr. Ellery Anderson had told in beautiful language how honest the Reform Club was, and how it was a better neighbor at the low price of $15 a plate to Mr. Cleveland because he was so aggressively and magnificently honest. Mr. Cleveland, however, concluded that it was better to be honest, Mr. Schurz had enlarged upon the circumstance that the nomination and election of Mr. Cleveland were due to the fact that when he was addressing: Roger Q. Mills had advised his hearers to continue to be honest, and Reform Club had said with due feeling to the audience: "We are honest."

Mr. Ellery Anderson, however, knew he was not being honest. Mr. Schurz had enlarged upon the circumstance that the nomination and election of Mr. Cleveland were due to the fact that when he was addressing: Roger Q. Mills had Dickens' Works are the most widely read of any novels printed in any language. The popularity of Dickens is eminently the novel of the people. His books seem shafts of sparkling wit, touches of pathos, bursts of satire; his characters are original and real as well as agreeable and attractive. The plots are simple and direct, and the scenes are well drawn and vividly described in a thrilling and dramatic style. To own a complete set of his incomparable books is to be possessed of a fortune indeed.

Never before has the opportunity been presented for securing so much valuable reading matter for so little money. It is really a whole library in a single volume.

MANY KILLED.

All the Bloody Work of Lynchers Outdone.

North Carolina Citizens Kill Each Other Like Fiends.

A Man's Right to Fire Murdered Men Attempt to Lynch the Murderer.—A Man's Escape With the Sheriff's Posse Thirty-Five Dead and Wounded.

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Jan. 5.—Tuesday night a masked mob of five hundred men entered the jail at Bakersville, N. C., and took Dr. James Snipes, who had murdered Isaac Osborne, a prominent citizen of Mitchell county, to a dense forest, about half a mile away, and lynched him.

Eleven of the sheriff's posse were killed in their efforts to defend the prisoner. About twenty-five of the mob were killed, and among the dead and wounded some of the most prominent men in the county were the unfortunates.

The facts which led to the terrible lynching are as follows: Aaron Wiseman and Calvin Snipes were partners in an illicit distillery in Mitchell county, N. C., and had told William Osborne and Isaac Osborne, two brothers, that they must close it down. William Osborne reported the distillery to the officials at Bakersville, N. C., and helped them to destroy it. Wiseman and Snipes suspected Isaac Osborne as the reporter.

On the night of August 27, 1892, Snipes and Wiseman, armed with Winchester rifles, went to the house of Isaac Osborne and called him up. Mr. Osborne came to the door and the culprits opened fire, almost riddling him with bullets. Wiseman and Snipes were then shot, and the culprits could not be obtained against Wiseman and he was released. Snipes was bound over to the superior court on purely circumstantial evidence. He was placed in jail, and after being confined about two weeks, he was taken to killing in the chamber above referred.

The last attack on the Mitchell county jail was made at 6 o'clock Tuesday night. The structure is a frame building and little calculated to withstand an assault. It is said that the mob had been informed with about seven or five determined men, who declared they would see the law upheld or die. The attack was expected all day. Tuesday the mountaineers of Mitchell, McDowell, and Yancey counties, assembled in the little hamlet of Bakersville until the population of five hundred was about doubled. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon a formal demand was made upon Sheriff Moornaw for Snipes and the two Whites by a messenger from the garrison. The garrison responded: "We will die first."

Q Then they knew there would be a fight. The little company split up into three parts, one remaining in the jail, and the other two in the rear of the building. Winchesters were loaded, and the wait for the final began. The men were not long in suspense. The night would be bright with moonlight, and it was decided for the mob to wait for the moon. About midnight a fire attack was made. Then the armed men marched up the road, and then with a howl broke on a run for the jail. The garrison was ready for them. "Halt, or I'll give them order to fire," sang out from Sheriff Moornaw's mouth. No attempt was made to stop the firing.

"Fire," rang out the order, and seventy-five rifles poured a direct and flanking hail of bullets into the determined lynchers. They wavered a moment as a roar of gunpowder rent the air, and then the steadiness of veterans closed up their ranks and rushed forward again under the leadership of the gigantic mountaineer, who urged them forward with the old "rebel yell." Again the rifles of the belligerent rang out, and this time they were answered by concentrated fire from the mob. The aim was deadly.

"Fire," rang out the order, and seventy-five rifles poured a direct and flanking hail of bullets into the determined lynchers. They wavered a moment as a roar of gunpowder rent the air, and then the steadiness of veterans closed up their ranks and rushed forward again under the leadership of the gigantic mountaineer, who urged them forward with the old "rebel yell." Again the rifles of the belligerent rang out, and this time they were answered by concentrated fire from the mob. The aim was deadly.

Every window on the opposite sides of the building occupied by the defenders was shot out, and a dozen men fell wounded or dead. Their bodies hung past the deputies, who were unarmed, and only a few could close up to the windows and return the fire before the mob was upon them. The mob, however, was armed with rifles and all was over. Their deputies, with their leader, Sheriff Moornaw, mortally wounded, were in the hands of the mob, and every one of them was looking down the muzzle of a revolver. The mob waited to pick the dead or maimed, the wounded, the mob made a rush at the door of the jail, and it went down before a score of stalwart men. The prisoners were reached. Half dead with fear, the culprits were dragged out, and the mob, whose ropes were plucked around their necks, with one hundred men, mad with the thirst for blood, at the end of each. The wretches were dragged over the ice-covered rocks to a place of woodland half a mile away.

Behind them followed the remainder of the mob, firing at the prostrate forms at every step. The victims were undoubtedly dead before they had been dragged twenty yards, and it was the mountaineers who were the last that were struck up when the woods were reached. Then the mob returned to look after the dead and wounded.

In the little enclosure and on the roadbed in front of the jail twenty-five bodies were found, and in the base building, eight more were laid in death. About thirty others were wounded, some of them fatally, among these being gallant Sheriff Moornaw, who was shot twice through the chest and then cut down to a standstill.

Nothing definite is known of the wounded, as Bakersville is miles away from a telegraph office, and all news brought to this point comes by carriers. Since the first news was received four more of the sheriff's posse are reported dead and five more of the mob wounded.

The mob is still under arms, but in view of local conditions, it is not believed there will be any more bloodshed unless a call is made upon the governor for troops. If they are summoned every mountain moonshiner for miles around will assemble to repel them, as these people have no regard for either state or local law, and will plant an outside state to force them into submission. As far as they are concerned the case is closed, as both the sheriff's posse and the mob are regarded as having done their duty in dealing with the bootlegs on their principle. Aaron Wiseman, reported lynched by the Whitson brothers.

A courier has arrived who states that the mob, consisting of dispersals, was present, remaining near the ground. The scattered handful of the sheriff's posse also remained under arms and was rapidly reinforced. All through the morning the crowd continued to increase, so that at 10 o'clock, about six hundred men. Feeling so high, and after a few speeches, the posse resolved to avenge Sheriff Moornaw's death. Another battle took place shortly thereafter, in which at least twenty more men were killed. What will be the result no one here can tell, but troops are expected.

THE OHIO LEGISLATURE.

A Bill of Bills Introduced in the House and Several in the Senate.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 5.—Forty-one bills were introduced in the house Wednesday. Among the most important were the following:

To provide for every township having 3,000 or more population, and containing a bank of deposit, the county treasurer shall establish at the proper time sub-offices for the receipt of taxes; to require street-cleaning companies to provide for the payment of the motormen on their electric cars by October 1, next, under penalty of $100 fine per car; to provide for a revision and codification of the municipal code of the state; to regulate state police; to casually insurance companies to do business in this state; to change the times for paying taxes to January and February; to provide that a woman serving as administratrix or executrix shall make deposition of persons by her attorney to provide that a husband shall have the right to alimony when the wife is the aggressor; making the estates of murderers who die may be executed liable to actions for damages on the part of their victim's family.

Among the bills introduced in the senate were the following: Changing the date of semi-annual payment of taxes from December 20 and June 20 to January 20 and July 20.

Another bill, introduced in regard to changing a clause of venire in proceedings at law, when an impartial trial of the case can not be had.

TYPUS FEVER.

It is Declared Epidemic in New York—New Cases.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Typus fever is now undoubtedly epidemic in this city. Before 10 o'clock Wednesday morning the health officials had discovered ten new cases, and the total on the side of the disease in the city was 100. In the most thickly populated district, Wednesday's cases make the total foot up eighty-one victims since December 1, when the plague first broke out. There was one death from the disease during the night, the unfortunate being John Shylock who had been taken from 34 Bayard street.

All of the lodging-houses south of Fourteenth street—and there are 116 of them—were visited Friday night by health inspectors. Every one of the lodgers was examined. The pest house at 34 Bayard street, where the first case was discovered, was found to have 37 beds in excess of legal allowances.

Postmen, firemen, and other men who render service to the public were examined.

On Saturday morning the pest house was passed at the orders of the health board Wednesday asking the board of estimate and apportionment to grant it $2,000 to provide for the payment of additional health inspectors for the pest houses which shall look for typical fever patients among the lodging houses and tenements.

A WASTE OF GAS.

The Indiana Gas Will Be Asked to Stop It.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 5.—An annual meeting of representatives of natural gas companies was held in this city Wednesday afternoon, and a resolution was passed to seek legislation to protect the Indiana natural gas supply.

The Chicago Pipe Line Co. was represented, and the bitter fight that has been on for three years, to prevent the piping of gas to Chicago, was compromised. The agreement in the proposed contract against the Chicago Co. is to be dismissed on condition that the company agrees not to apply over 250 pounds pressure in pumping.

The legislature will be asked to enact a law prohibiting the use of iron pipes.

Propulations were passed at the meeting from a prominent business firm, presumably to be used in sending out circulars.

Two Trains Collide.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 5.—Two work trains on the Baltimore & Ohio R. R. came together near Beuna Vista, Pa., Wednesday afternoon, and the wrecks were piled high in the rear of the engine.

The Chicago Co. is to be dismissed on condition that the company agrees not to apply over 250 pounds pressure in pumping.

The legislature will be asked to enact a law prohibiting the use of iron pipes.

Propulations were passed at the meeting from a prominent business firm, presumably to be used in sending out circulars.

Fatal Mine Explosion.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 5.—A disastrous fire at the mine of the St. Petersburg Mining Co. was killed by a mine explosion there Tuesday. Four men severely injured, were brought up from the pit shortly after the explosion.

Natural Gas in New York State.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 5.—A large vein of natural gas has been struck in Well No. 13, at Sandy Creek. The tools were thrown high in the air, and the driller ran for his life. The noise of the escaping gas was heard two miles.

Arizona Wants Statehood.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 5.—The republican and democratic territorial central committees have been in session here. Each adopted a set of resolutions urging upon congress immediate action on the subject.

Death of a Brother at Niagara.

LOUDON, Tenn., Jan. 5.—A masked man, fifty years old, who had been the heir of a wealthy estate, Hermon Duncan, who was in jail without bail, charged with killing a man named Stephens, with an ax, last Friday, and hung him to a tree. Duncan was also accused of having killed three more persons.

Trotted Into Cave and Arrested.

BLUFFTON, O., Jan. 5.—The board of health of this city has adopted a rule making it a punishable offense for persons residing in houses plagued for contagious disease to ride in street cars or visit public assemblies.

Eight Necks in Danger.

ANAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 5.—John G. Brown has received a $100 reward for the communication of the death sentence to that of imprisonment for life in the case of the five colored boys convicted, with three men, of the murder of Dr. J. H. Hill, of Chesterfield. They now stand sentenced to be hanged at Chesterfield January 15, unless executive clemency is exercised.

BLUFFTON, O., Jan. 5.—The board of health of this city has adopted a rule making it a punishable offense for persons residing in houses plagued for contagious disease to ride in street cars or visit public assemblies.

Eight Necks in Danger.

ANAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 5.—John G. Brown has received a $100 reward for the communication of the death sentence to that of imprisonment for life in the case of the five colored boys convicted, with three men, of the murder of Dr. J. H. Hill, of Chesterfield. They now stand sentenced to be hanged at Chesterfield January 15, unless executive clemency is exercised.

WASHINGTON.

Tug Hamilton, alias Tug Wilson, one of Washington's colored sports, died very suddenly Tuesday night. It was first thought he had been foully dealt with, but investigation developed the fact that he had been found near the residence of the Lexington home, and died while being overcome by heat, excessive use of liquor and exposure.

EAST CLARKSBURG.

Uncle Will Crutcher of Springfield is visiting friends here.

Mr. McCarran, who has been visiting his daughter at Maysville for a week past, returned home Tuesday.

Miss Anna Gidding has returned home after a week's visit to Rev. J. H. Wallingford and family.

Rouven Graham moved his family Tuesday to Peacock's Landing, where Mr. Graham intends to work in the tobacco-house for Mr. Pence.

Napoleon Doggett, who started a barber-shop in town a few days ago, has closed the doors and returned home. Here reports Concord not needing a barber-shop.

Dude Prichard, while skating Tuesday night, fell, striking his head on a rock, cutting an ugly wound, which though painful, is not considered dangerous.

We regret to learn that Eddie Dooley, while riding a horse whose feet were smooth, slipped and fell on his leg, crushing his ankle. He met with a similar accident about a year ago.

KENTUCKY WEATHER REPORT.

What We May Expect Between This Time and To-Morrow Evening.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

White streaks—FIRE; Blue—RAIN OF SNOW; With Black above—TWILL WARMER SNOW; If Black beneath—COLLER WILL BE.

Unless Black's shadow no change we'll see.

The above forecasts are made for a period of thirty-six hours, ending at 8 o'clock to-morrow evening.

REGULAR meeting of City Council to night, and all the boys will be there.

The Deposit bank of Carlisle has individual deposits amounting to $245, 483.

There will be thirty-one days of racing at the spring meeting of Latonia, commencing May 30th and closing June 24th.

The wharfboat, coal barges, &c., are in great danger of being crushed to pieces when the gage of ice breaks. The Silver Wave, which is tied up at the bend just below the city, is also in imminent danger.

At the Opera-house to night will be presented the musical comedy, "The Kid," which is recommended as a first-class troupe in every respect. The house will be well heated and a good-sized audience should greet the first appearance of "The Kid."

As Ohio county layed thought he was getting the best of a Chicago man when he purchased him a piece of land at a ridiculously low price, but he thought differently when a Detroit attorney informed him that the land he had bought the property deed was situated in the bottom of Lake Michigan and could not be cultivated without being well drained.
